Elliot Goblet

The Short Story

A now warmer and less bearded Elliot Goblet is one of Australia's most original and best-known comedians.

His accomplishments include umpteen live public shows and over 1,000 corporate event performances in Australia and overseas. Also, he's done over 50 appearances as a guest stand up comedian on national television shows and popped up on shows like Burke's Backyard, Neighbours, The Footy Show, Celebrity Wheel of Fortune and Pizza.

What's more he has a best selling book "Business According to Goblet" which contains good business sense heavily coated with good business nonsense and a CD "Internally Berserk" which contains oodles of clever but unconnected one-liners with the odd two-liners as well.

These days 90% of Elliot's work is as a performer at corporate events either doing a 20 to 50 minute spot or as an M.C. and every single time that this quirky guy with the little round glasses gets up in front of a corporate audience he delivers a sizeable quantity of specifically tailored material. He loves to get inside the world of the organisation that hires him.

Described as "The Safe Corporate Humorist" because he is squeaky clean and cautious with the material he uses, through his tailored act Elliot Goblet's impact will last long after he leaves an event. And he always gives his audience a lot to laugh about.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION IS ANSWERED:

Why should I consider Elliot Goblet as one option for my corporate event?

- ◆ Because he's got a public profile with a high recognition factor. And the more animated and more personable Elliot Goblet of today is one of Australia's best-loved and cleanest comedians.
- ◆ Because he's got a solid corporate track record with over 1000 corporate events, and he's worked in every industry.
- ◆ Because he gets inside the world of the client by doing extensive research and writing specifically tailored material for every single corporate performance. And any information gathered is kept confidential.
- ◆ Because having worked in a corporate environment himself for 13 years he can empathise (... and even sympathise) with his clients.
- ◆ Because he is positive, friendly, tasteful and safe, and will reject material which may be funny on paper but hurtful when delivered to an audience.
- ◆ Because people in a corporate audience especially at a conference need to have a laugh to maintain their mental stamina and Elliot delivers lots of laughs.
- ◆ Because he appreciates that you're paying a lot of money for an outside presenter and therefore delivers not only laughs but also benefits through his corporate event social comment. For example through his specific tailoring, Elliot can facilitate organisation changes, reduce areas of conflict and improve motivation.
- ◆ Because his fees are fair compared to the fees charged by others who research and write tailored material to any reasonable degree.

- ◆ Because Elliot's alter ego Jack is passionate about his work, has high integrity and is easy to get along with!

At first, I was really apprehensive about using your services, because of your image portrayed on television and because of the sensitive material supplied to you to use on the workshop participants. As it turned out, I should not have had any concerns because you proved to be a true professional and everything you did came off. Your professional skills in the field are outstanding and given the opportunity we would use you again."
