“When doing public speaking engagements, I take people on a journey of ‘Self Discovery’. In order to discover why they are who they are – they need first to find what has ‘programmed’ their biological computer in the manner it has. If this ‘programming’ is limiting them from achieving their dreams and ambitions, then it needs to be changed, but in order to make choices of suitable alternative programs; we need first to understand the process.”

“Relationships are the prime programming influence – relationships with parents, siblings, peers, partners, in fact all relationships.”

“In order to help people see how they can take full responsibility for shaping their own future and achieving their dreams – I relate my own journey – from extremely humble beginnings in a tiny town in Western Australia as one of seven children – horse and cart - no power – no running water etc, through my education in life – aggressive relationships, teaching, and eventually to my relationship with Peter and a high profile lifestyle.”

“I have been teaching these life skills for the past ten years and speaking to many groups, mostly helping people in crises to change their lives, but also to help everyone realise that they are in charge of their destiny.”

CLIENT FEEDBACK

“Excellent. Bev was able to utilise our theme for the evening ‘TAFE under Construction’ by talking about building relationships and communities. There was something for everyone in her speech. She also presented awards, made positive comments to the recipients and posed for photos with them. She mixed with the guests during pre-drinks and did radio and newspaper interviews. What more could we want?”

South West Institute of TAFE

“Bev was fantastic & we all thoroughly enjoyed her engaging style & grounded approach in delivering some really thought provoking information, that everyone could relate to on their own level.”

Sensis Pty Ltd

“We found Bev Brock to be a lovely lady who was very personable to our group as well as being professional. She managed to get her point across as well as providing a bit of humour along the way, which certainly was a highlight.
