John Fleming

Dr. John Fleming is a commercial radio personality in Adelaide (for most of the last 33 years), a Catholic priest who is married with three children, a former champion debater, an academic, and raconteur.

He has been an invited speaker to:

- ◆ The British Houses of Parliament,
- ◆ The Peking Union Medical College (Beijing),
- ◆ The First World Congress on Family Law and Children's Rights (1993),
- ◆ The Scientific Meeting of the Royal Australasian College of Physicians and its faculties (Panel),
- ◆ The Symposium to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the Instituto Nacional de la Nutricion Salvador Zubiran (Mexico City)
- ◆ Convegno Intenazionale Università degli Studi "G. d'Annunzio", Chieti, Italia

Dr Fleming has had a wide experience in the entertainment and communications industry, which, when combined with his extensive knowledge on a wide range of topics including medical ethics, politics, and public policy make him an engaging and challenging speaker who combines an easy approach to complex and difficult subjects with wit and sincerity.

He has been an invited speaker all over the world, from the Vatican to Latin America, from Canada to China, and from state to state throughout Australia.

As an elected member of the Constitutional Convention called to discuss the possibility of a republic, Dr Fleming made many speeches before the distinguished body of eminent Australians.
